Zodiac Clock 3D Screensaver

The idea behind this screensaver is that of an astrologer using a computer screen as a grand telescope. As the Sun and the Moon circle around the Earth, the window will rotate around the user's desktop. Most of the time, the animated pictures are static. But in a few cases, they are actually animated, so users have a choice between static and animated versions. The program also features calendar, world map, and weather information. The screensaver can also be used as a live wallpaper, so you can set it as your desktop background. By loading audio tracks or using the built-in music player, you can have the screensaver play background music or sound effects. This screensaver can display the static versions, the animated ones, or both. The program also features a timer, so you can set it to go off after a specified amount of time. You should be able to set up the screensaver fairly easily, and you can also enable a live wallpaper. The tool is absolutely suitable for anyone interested in horoscopes, weather, or even eclipses. The program is freeware, which means it is free to use without any restrictions. No registration is required. WinX Free Screen Capture WinX Free Screen Capture is a program that lets you take a snapshot of the screen, and use it later to create a video tutorial or share screenshots via email. The program is designed to make it easier to record your screen's contents in just a few clicks, without needing to resort to third-party tools. You can annotate the captured images and manipulate them in some ways, but you don't need to worry about any of this unless you want to. The tool is designed to work with Windows 7 and 8. You don't need to install the program; it has its own built-in control panel. You can share screenshots via email, or import them directly to OneNote. Recording a screenshot While you can use the program's default interface to add screenshots to OneNote, there is a standalone utility that lets you annotate them and save them to a number of file formats.

You can use it to create documents, presentation slides, or web banners.

While this is a handy feature, it doesn't really make a difference to the quality of the screen snapshots. The main interface

is pretty simple, and it doesn't require any
